

Randy Bailey

Randy Bailey is currently working as a Supply Chain Consultant with a wide range of experience with establishing multi-plant contracting using a team based procurement strategy to create leveraged contracts for commonly used commodities. He is currently working with the Dayton Superior Corporation in Miamisburg, Ohio in their central procurement organization.

He received his education at Indiana University and has spent most of his career with Tomkins PLC, and Industrial Management Company who maintains their headquarters in London England. Nearly all of his 24 years with Tomkins was spent as Director of Materials, where he focused on the material and logistics procurement side of acquisition reviews for the Company. Tomkins has operated as many as 40 Companies with a wide range business focuses. The Company has in excess of 175 locations, with the vast majority of those plants being located in the United States.

Within Tomkins, Randy has worked with such Companies as Smith & Wesson, Murray Bicycle, Murray Lawnmower, Dexter Axle, Philips Products, Trico, Gates Rubber, Stant, Air Systems Components, Lasco Software and a number of other companies owned and operated by the Tomkins Group.

Randy currently lives in Springfield, Ohio with his wife Nona