

Sheila M. Gunter

Reynolds & Reynolds

Sheila is a part of the Management & Team Training department of Reynolds & Reynolds. Sheila is a full time professional facilitator ("Trainer of Really Cool Stuff") for Reynolds University.

Sheila is certified with Development Dimensions International (DDI) and has ongoing professional education in the areas of adult learning, team problem solving, team building, and management education. Sheila, in training and development for over 13 years - 6 with Reynolds - works with all levels of management and associates with a relaxed and approachable style that delivers consistent above-target business results for her client groups. Sheila introduced the FISH! Philosophy experiential learning curriculum to Reynolds which has had more than 1,500 participants over the past four years. Sheila facilitates for all of Reynolds & Reynolds and has trained all over the US, Canada & Europe. She also speaks at several other local universities as well as organizational events.

Prior to coming to Reynolds, Sheila worked for NOVA Corporation in Knoxville, Tennessee as a leadership development facilitator. Sheila also worked for Liberty Savings Bank in Ohio as a Sr. Training Specialist opening new offices as well as consumer lending.

Sheila is a lifelong resident of Dayton, Ohio. She attended Morehead State University in Kentucky as well as Sinclair College in Dayton, Ohio. Sheila has lived in Ohio & Tennessee.