

Thomas M. Brodbeck

Tom is the Chief Operating Officer for Strategic Leadership Solutions, specializing in the leadership and organizational development training for the company. He holds a Ph.D. in the field of Organizational Leadership and brings over 25 years of executive and mid-level leadership experience in a variety of roles.

Tom currently consults with over 150 leaders and 60 organizations and is an adjunct professor at Huntington University (Huntington, IN) and Indiana Wesleyan University (Cincinnati and Dayton, OH campuses). He regularly coaches organizations as they work through conflict, change and leadership development. He has also presented seminars on a variety of leadership topics and is the author of numerous articles. His next contribution is a forthcoming publication called Letters 2 Leaders, an email-based newsletter focusing on topical leadership issues.

Tom specializes in the areas of leadership development, conflict resolution and change leadership, with a special interest in any area that will help a leader to become more effective.